Parking Problem

Bingo While You Roll
Opened this morning's mail — and now I've seen everything.

One of the national oil companies is distributing to credit-card holders and others on its mailing list a Back-Seat Bingo Set. The introduction says:

"Don't forget the restless children are often distracting to a driver. So, keep the little game you'll find inside this folder in the glove compartment of your car. Bring it out when junior gets bored 'just sitting.'"

The Bingo set has four cards. You take the last number of each license plate you meet on the road and try to fill a line vertically, horizontally, or diagonally. And just to keep the game going longer you must use only out-of-state licenses.

Interesting—but not recommended for lone drivers...

The Crossett Plan

Today's Nashville News carries a fascinating report of a speech Paul Kayes of Crossett made before the Nashville Lions Club last week on the Crossett Lumber Co.'s experiment in changing over a company-owned town to a model city.

Kayes said the basis of The Crossett Plan is zoning of business, industrial, and residential areas. But the paragraph that stood out forcefully in the Nashville News story was this one:

"Company policy supported by city ordinances have led to a business program that could park 2,800 automobiles off the business streets. Business sites generally had three times as much parking space as business space, Kayes said, and traffic control has been established through main arteries."

The Crossett Co. was famous a generation ago for pioneering the idea of a perpetual timber-cut that would build up a community instead of gutting the forests and leaving a ghost town behind. It was attracting national attention back in the 1920's when I was a young editor at neighboring El Dorado... and today's bold conception of how a modern town ought to handle the parking problem carries on the Crossett tradition.

All over America downtown real estate values are sagging because an unimaginative landlord class have failed to recognize the compulsion put upon shopping habits by the automobile. It is a condition common to both large and small cities. But in the larger towns more is being done to meet the situation. In some metropolitan areas almost every other building is being torn down to make a parking lot—or converted to a multi-story garage—to house the cars of patrons of the businesses occupying the remaining structures. Many an old building that was losing money for its owners has thus become a profit-maker as a satellite for the business next door.

The striking fact about the current case is that it is happening in a small city. Crossett is to be congratulated—and the Crossett Company.

Rockefeller Weds 3-Time Divorcee

HAYDEN LAK, Idaho, (UP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, 44-year-old heir to America's largest oil fortune, and his bride, the former Jeanette Eddis of New York, were honeymooning today at an undisclosed location.

Rockefeller and his bride were married yesterday in a simple civil rite performed by Judge M. M. Humphrey of Coeur d'Alene at the mountain summer home of the bride's father.

Following a brief reception for their families and close friends, the newlyweds left for an undisclosed honeymoon location.

Best man at the ceremony was Dr. Graham Hawks of New York. The bride's attendant was her daughter, Ane Bartley.

It was the second marriage for Rockefeller and the fourth for his bride.

Weather Now a Problem to Farmers face the possibility of reduced crops this year unless they get more rain and the weather warms up soon.

In its monthly crop report late yesterday, the Agriculture Department said prospects on June 1 were the lowest since 1945. Production that year was about 12 per cent below last year's near record volume.

A combination of drought conditions in many areas and unusually cool growing weather contributed to the adverse outlook. Any sizable reduction in production—especially of cotton, corn, other feed grains, tobacco and rice—would help relieve present surplus problems. Prices could be expected to increase.

The department emphasized, however, that it is too early to forecast the possible size of crops, explaining that favorable changes in the weather would improve the picture.

The wheat crop—the only major one for which a production estimate was given—was put at 923 million bushels. While this would be the smallest crop since 1943, there would be no shortage. Reserve and surplus supplies on hand amount to nearly 1,100,000,000 bushels.

The report said needed rains in May brightened the future somewhat for large acreages of corn, cotton, soybeans, sorghums and other crops just getting a start.

However, many sections still had insufficient rain and badly needed more soil moisture, the report said.

Mrs. Powell, 83, Dies at Home Near Patmos

Mrs. Lorraine Powell, aged 83, a resident of Patmos for many years, died at her home early Tuesday.

Survivors include her husband, Bethel Powell, three sons, Jesse, Clifford and Barney Powell of Patmos; two daughters, Mrs. Winberry of Magnolia and Lola Powell of Patmos.

Funeral services will be held at Mt. Nebo Church at 3 p. m. Wednesday by the Rev. W. E. Thompson and the Rev. E. B. Jones.

The Former Lord for the Manor Has Become Something of a Mouse Right in His Own House

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (UP)—Are you the boss in your family, mister?

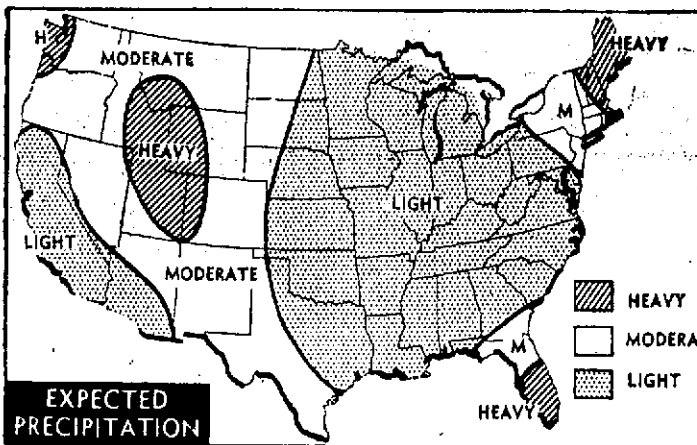

If you are, you are an unusual husband and father. It is getting harder and harder in our times for a man to act the role of the family boss. The former lord of the manor has become something of a mouse in his own house.

Some psychologists say it is a good thing that father is no longer the final boss. They believe the modern family doesn't need a boss, that authority and responsibility can be shared.

Maybe so, but I doubt it. You can't run a railroad or any other business without a boss, and I suspect the same thing is true of a family. A family, of course, isn't a business—but it has to be a going concern, and it needs someone at the head of it who, in a crisis, can make a final decision

Temperatures until July will average above seasonal norms from the Rocky Mountains east to the Mississippi. Below normal temperatures are expected east of the Appalachians and in the vicinity of the Sierra Nevada.

Precipitation until July will be heavy in Florida, New England and a portion of the Rocky Mountain states. Light rainfall is expected in California and in most of the eastern half of the nation.

British Deport Leader of Greek Church

LONDON (UP)—Scotland Yard deported the London head of the Greek Orthodox church early today in its first major crackdown on Cypriot anti-British activity in Britain.

Police agents seized Archimandrite (Abbot) Kallinikos Macheriotis in his downtown rectory late yesterday and put him aboard a plane for Athens shortly after midnight.

No announcement was made of Macheriotis' deportation until his plane had reached Athens. The news then came first from the Greek embassy here. It informed the London representative of Cyprus Ethnarchy organization, headed by the exiled Archbishop Makarios. The representative issued a formal protest to newspapers.

Untold thousands of persons in this country and over the world are blind simply because their own corneas in the front of the eye have been clouded, scarred or damaged by disease or accident. Other thousands appear willing to donate their own eyes after death to help these blind.

The new method takes the water out of the cornea tissue, permitting simple storage in a test-tube, under vacuum, for months. Corneas presumably could be shipped anywhere needed.

The difference between "standard" rates—those charged Ark-La-Pas domestic customers in Little Rock, for instance—and the rates charged by these "municipal" gas systems is illustrated by a comparison with the schedule approved May 18 for Grady, Dumas and Gould customers.

In Little Rock, the minimum, $1.10, pays for the first 1,000 cu. ft. of gas used, compared to a $1.50 minimum for the same amount in the Lincoln and Desha County towns. The next 9,000 cu. ft. costs 47 cents per 1,000 cu. ft., while in Grady, Dumas and Gould, the cost is 90 cents per MCF for the next 4,000 cu. ft. and 75 cents per MCF for all gas used thereafter. In Little Rock the domestic rate schedule graduates down to a 27-cent rate for all over 25,000 cu. ft.

Sight Restored by Storage Eye-Bank

By ALTON L. BLAKESLE
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (UP)—A revolutionary new kind of dry-storage eye bank is giving sight to 10 once-blinded humans, a physician said today.

They are seeing the world again through borrowed corneas or "windows" of the human eye. But these corneas were first dehydrated and then stored very simply for weeks or months.

Present eye banks can keep corneas in good shape under refrigeration for only a few days before they deteriorate. Blind patients sometimes spend expensive hospital stays until corneas, donated from dead persons, can reach them to try to restore sight.

Secondary Roads Getting Paved

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas will have only about 2,000 miles of unpaved secondary roads at the end of this year, compared to around 4,000 when the Arkansas Highway Commission in its present form took over in early 1953, Highway Director Herbert Eldridge said yesterday.

And Eldridge added that surfacing of the previously-unpaved portions of the primary system has been completed or is under contract except for a recently-added section of Highway 29 in Monroe County.

The highway director said that widening and resurfacing of Highway 67 from Little Rock to Texarkana and Highway 70 from Little Rock to Memphis would be completed "within a year. Similar work on Highway 67 from Little Rock to Newport has been completed or programmed, Eldridge said.

PSC Okays Plan Bringing Gas to Smaller Towns

LITTLE ROCK (Special)—More and more Arkansas towns which are slightly off the path of the gas pipelines are seeking (and getting) Public Service Commission endorsement of a comparatively new plan for bringing gas service to their citizens.

Five Yell County towns are the latest to file applications for PSC approval under which the proceeds of municipal revenue bond issues will be used to finance construction of transmission lines and distribution facilities which will then be placed under the management of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

Ark-La pioneered in this field, working out the first such agreement in 1953 with the town of Foreman. Since then, Murfreesboro, Chidester, Dover, Dumas, Grady and Gould have entered into similar operating arrangements with Ark-La.

A group of eight Poinsett and Crittenden County towns have this type of contract with Mid-South Gas Co.; another group of four towns in the northern part of Mississippi County contracted with Arkansas-Missouri Power Co., while still another group of three in Benton County, in the northwest of Arkansas, made arrangements with Arkansas Western Gas Co.

The plan appears to be beneficial all around. The gas companies are able to put their fuel into a new set of homes and industries without making a heavy initial investment in facilities. The municipal tax-free bonds, which finance the facilities, are good investments, virtually guaranteed by the operating company's rental agreement, and at least one bond broker has purchased millions of dollars worth of these issues in the past three years.

Last, but not least, the new customers have gas, which costs them more than it does the gas company's "regular" customers, but less than other fuels, according to testimony incorporated in PSC transcripts of hearings on the various applications.

The pattern was set when the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., entered into the first such contract with Foreman, in 1953. The town sold bonds and with the proceeds built approximately 16 miles of transmission line and a distribution system, then leased the works to Ark-La for 20 years.

The latter pays annual rentals sufficient to cover interest and principal payments on the municipal bond issue. It also pays all operating expense of the utility, taxes, insurance and the like. The lease contract gives the company an option to purchase at any time. Although none of the gas companies has yet exercised the purchase option, utility authorities say that acquisition is contemplated whenever about half the construction cost is repaid, or, in other words, whenever the investment in the plant is reduced to the point where it can be taken care of at standard rates.

The difference between "standard" rates—those charged Ark-La's domestic customers in Little Rock, for instance—and the rates charged by these "municipal" gas systems is illustrated by a comparison with the schedule approved May 18 for Grady, Dumas and Gould customers.

Sees Smear of Stalin Plan to Aid New Dictator

By DON DIXON

WASHINGTON, (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles expressed fear today that Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev may have denounced Joseph Stalin only to solidify the dictatorial rule of the present Russian leadership.

Dulles told a news conference "we can hope that Khrushchev's revelations" concerning the late Soviet premier "will mark the beginning of a change away from that system of dictatorship."

"But that, I fear, may not be his purpose. The purpose may be merely to persuade the subject people that the present dictatorship is good, because it condemns the past dictatorship."

Dulles told reporter "there is only one cure for the evil of the imposed dictatorship—that is government which derives its power from the consent of the governed."

He thereby challenged the Kremlin's leaders to meet what he called the desires of the Soviet people and give them greater freedom.

The cabinet officer said that so far there has been no evidence of any change in the dictatorial system which historically has always produced various kinds of Stalinism.

Dulles acknowledged that there has been some relaxation of the pressures on the Soviet people in recent times but said that the fearful dictatorship continues.

Dulles also told his news conference:

House Probers Cite Negro Red for Contempt

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously today to cite Negro Singer Paul Robeson for contempt of Congress.

The action came moments after Robeson refused to say whether he is a Communist. He shouted at committee members:

"You are the non-patriots and you are the un-Americans and you ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) immediately banged his gavel and announced the hearing adjourned.

"I think it should be," Robeson commented.

"I've stood just about as much of this as I can," Walter said. "You should adjourn this forever," Robeson snapped over his shoulder as he left the witness stand.

Lions See Slides on Old Castles

Hope Lions Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Hotel Barlow Monday noon and program chairman Kinard Young introduced Mrs. Farrin Greene who presented 160 color slides of Bavarian castles and countryside scenes taken in 1950-51-52 while Colonel Greene and Mrs. Greene and their children were stationed in Bavaria and Stuttgart, after World War II.

Col. Greene used a Zeiss Contessa 35 mm to make the pictures which were in color. Mrs. Greene is now residing in Hope and Col. Greene is an Ordnance Battalion Commander in Seoul, Korea.

Ike Aides Are Told to Pare Aid Request

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leaders reportedly have told President Eisenhower's aides bluntly to pare administration foreign aid requests below $4,300,000,000.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3,800,000,000 foreign assistance authorization bill passed 273-122 by the House yesterday.

One Republican, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower's assistants were told they would be lucky if the Senate added half a billion dollars to the House figure. The administration originally requested $4,900,000,000.

The President's aides were told firmly, this conference said, that they must, justifiably, and in detail any proposed increases over the House ceiling. Even then, the consensus of the GOP leaders was that it would be difficult to obtain any boosts.

Urges Part of Foreign Aid Fund Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration civil and military leaders urged Senate Republicans and Democratic leaders today to restore at least 600 million dollars of the $1,100,000,000 slashed from the foreign aid bill by the House.

The Senate leaders said after a White House conference that Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told them "great injury" would be done if 600 million dollars was not added to the $3,800,000,000 authorization measure passed by the House yesterday by a 273-122 vote.

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant, for the full $4,900,000,000 he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

President Doing Fine, Signs Few Key Documents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed three documents. And his press secretary said the chief executive is "feeling fine" on this fourth day after his intestinal operation.

This was the first time Eisenhower had signed an official paper since the emergency surgery Saturday.

The President affixed his signatures while sitting up in a chair, and holding the papers on his knee.

At the same time he received a report from his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, on this morning's bi-partisan meeting at the White House on the foreign aid bill and asked Adams to thank personally all the senators who took part in the meeting.

Eisenhower held what amounted to a regular staff meeting, it lasted about 15 minutes. Besides Adams he conferred with Maj. Gen. William B. Parsons, his liaison man with Congress, and White House Staff Secretary Andrew J. Goodpastor.

The papers Eisenhower signed were:

1. An emergency allocation of $50,000 for federal aid to flooded areas in Clear Creek and Jefferson counties, Colorado. The areas were damaged by a break in the Georgetown Dam, as the result of runoff from winter snows.

2. An executive order approving a new design of the U. S. Army flag. One of the new flags, bearing the Army seal, will be presented to Secretary of the Army Bruce C. Clarke on June 30.

3. The "International Wheat Agreement for 1956." This becomes effective automatically unless the Senate disapproves it within 30 days.

State GOP to Give Fulbright an Opponent

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The chairman of the Arkansas Republican nominating committee said today that the party would select a candidate to run against U. S. Sen. J. William Fulbright in the November election.

D. Fred Taylor of Osceola said: "We have selected the man and he will be nominated this afternoon."

The Republicans had been expected to nominate a candidate for governor, for other state offices and possibly a candidate for a Congressional seat.

Frank R. Taylor, former Little Rock mayor and a GOP candidate for governor two years ago, took over as temporary chairman of the Arkansas Republican Convention at the morning session. A. L. Barber, Little Rock attorney, was to be installed a permanent chairman later in the day.

Leader in the Argentine Revolt Caught

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Gen. Juan Jose Valle, sought as a top leader of last weekend's brief but bloody revolt, was reported captured early today.

The newspaper Clarin said it had received information that Valle was taken prisoner and placed at the disposition of the Army Ministry. Clarin said it did not know where he was taken or whether he had been court-martialed.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

Valle and Gen. Raul Tanco, both military bigwigs in the regime of deposed President Juan Peron, were named by the government as the key military leaders in the abortive rebellion. Tanco apparently was still at large.

It was considered likely Valle would face a firing squad, since a high government spokesman said earlier a presidential order commanding 11 death sentences was issued. It was not clear whether the order applied to Valle and Tanco.

Last Chance to Marry? Mother's Wrong This Time Foolish Girl

Dar Dorothy Dix: I'm a 25-year-old divorcee with three children. I've been going out with Dean, a man of 46. He is very good to me and the youngsters, and can do a lot for us. He has been married 25 years, but his divorce is becoming final in September and he wants to marry me then.

The only reason I'm hesitating is that he hasn't a thing except the clothes on his back, and is a chronic borrower. When payday comes along, he owes so much he has to start borrowing all over again. He said if I marry him he'll buy me a house and anything else I want. The only reason he hasn't bought one before this, he claims, is that he didn't love his wife and wasn't interested in establishing a home.

I don't love him, but if he'll provide a home for the children, I certainly will do everything to make him happy. I'm worried that I won't get another chance to marry with the three kids. I really want to do the right thing by them, and this seems to be it.

NORNA
Dear Norma: If you can't see the flaws in your hope of security, I wish you'd speak to your pastor, or talk the matter over with a domestic relations counselor.

How do you expect a man who can't get along from one payday to the next to accumulate the necessary funds to buy a house? For that matter, how do you expect him to support you and the three children when he can't take care of himself? When a marriage of 25 years breaks up, there's a good reason for it, and I suspect the reason in this case is Dean's lack of financial responsibility.

Perhaps you won't get another chance to marry. Aren't you better off now than you would be with an improvident, shiftless man you don't love? Do think it over, talk it over and settle for what you have. I'm sure the kids are better off that way.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My boy friend and his family have asked me to have dinner with them next Sunday. I would like very much to accept their invitation but my mother doesn't think it would look "nice" for me to go. Will you please give me your idea on the subject.

ANGIE
Dear Angie: If all mothers thought like yours, pity the poor parents who only have sons. They'd never enjoy young people's company, never meet the girls their boys take out, never be part of a charming and charming teen-age circle.

I'm sure there's much less in-law trouble where a pleasant relationship exists between the ladies of two generations, and what better occasion to promote friendship than over a dinner table? I do hope your mother reconsiders.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I like Russell very much. He has a girl friend, but one night at a party he forgot all about her and made love to me. I, like a fool, let him. The next day he was back with the other girl. Now he doesn't bother with me at all.

KITTY
Dear Kitty: Young ladies who are too free with their favors run into situations like this. The damage is done now. Russell certainly has no use for you, preferring girls who show a little resistance. Remember this in future and hold yourself more valuable than you have. Without self-respect, you cannot hope for the respect and admiration of others.

INTERPOSITION RESOLUTION and SCHOOL ASSIGNMENT MEASURE (To Preserve Free Segregated Schools)

The above measures, which are now being initiated by petition for popular vote of the people, are of utmost importance to the citizens of Arkansas. They have been prepared by the most competent and informed men, after extensive study of all similar measures in other Southern States. The proposals are designed to protect and maintain the inherent and constitutional rights of Arkansas to manage its own domestic affairs, including the right to preserve and operate our own school systems as is considered best for all segments of our population.

THE INTERPOSITION RESOLUTION is to express the willingness of Arkansas to join with other states in expressing opposition to the rulings and court edicts of the federal government, which violate the basic rights of the several states. The initiated resolution will permit the people to voice their opposition, by ballot at the polls, the greatest democratic process known to the people; their opposition to infringement of rights.

THE SCHOOL ASSIGNMENT BILL WILL . . .

strengthen and confirm the authority of each school district to control its own affairs. It conveys to each school board the power to assign pupils of the district. More than 18 reasons are set out in the measure for the assignment of pupils to separate classrooms in the best interest of all the pupils of the district.

Any appeal from the assignment of pupils, must go before the school board for hearing. Any appeal from the decision of the school board must be taken to our own district courts and eventually to the Arkansas Supreme Court, before any case can be taken into the federal courts.

This procedure will provide ample safeguards and protection to our local school boards in defending the right to administer the affairs of their own districts, and to retain the tradition of segregation.

ACTION TAKEN OUTLINED . . .

An office has been established in Little Rock to direct the circulation of petitions to place these measures on the ballot. Less than 30 days remain to complete this work.

Workers, already in the field, are urged to complete the canvass and send or bring their petitions to the office. Others, who wish to help and to join in this movement, may call or write the addresses given below, and obtain petitions to circulate.

These measures, after much consultation and study, including examination of procedure in other states, were approached and drawn up in a logical and legal manner, by the following committee, which I appointed:

J. L. (Bex) SHAYER
Wynne, Cross County, (noted attorney, former state senator and lieutenant governor);

MARVIN BIRD
Earle, Crittenden County, (banker, civic leader and now chairman of State Board of Education);

BERT DICKEY
Earle, Crittenden County, (Attorney, banker, business man, civic leader);

R. B. McCULLOUGH
Forest City, Crittenden County, (outstanding attorney recognized throughout the South as a leading authority on constitutional law on this subject, and a former member of the Public Service Commission);

CHARLIE ADAMS
Hughes, St. Francis County, (planter, chairman of Hughes School Board, former member Arkansas Highway Commission and president Arkansas Cotton Council, and now member Game & Fish Commission); a personal message . . .

May I add in conclusion, that these measures are designed to retain our free system of segregated public schools. The submission and approval of the measures at the polls, are necessary to preserve the authority of the local school boards, to govern their own affairs.

The Supreme Court decision, affecting segregation in our schools, was handed down two years ago. This was before the last democratic primaries. Since I have been your governor, no school board has been forced to desegregate its schools against its will.

When the measures are voted into law, no school board will be forced to mix the races in schools while I am governor.

A governor often needs the help of the people in protecting their interests. I need your help now in circulating these petitions.

Sincerely,

ORVAL E. FAUBUS, Governor

All you want in a hardtop ...including a lower price!

The lines of the Ford Customline Victoria are low—and so's the price.

Ford's New Customline Victoria

Open-air smartness of a convertible . . . carefree GO of Ford's great V-8!

If you've admired the wide-open beauty of hardtops but have always been a little "gun shy" of their price, then this new Ford Customline Victoria was meant for you. For here is all you have dreamed of in a hardtop—including a price tag that will be a pleasant surprise!

But this car's economy only begins with its low price. Its low operating cost will delight you, too! In fact, this very model with its standard V-8 engine won the Mobilgas Award for delivering the greatest gas economy per pound in Ford's field! Or, you may order the mighty 202-h.p. Thunderbird V-8 engine that's now available in all Fordomatic Fords. This is the same basic engine that powered Ford to victory at Daytona.

Like its Fairlane running-mate, this Customline hardtop has quarter windows that roll down completely, leaving nothing between you and the view but fresh air. You get the open-air smartness of a convertible, the trim lines of a Thunderbird, and, when you want it, all the snug comfort of a sedan.

As for safety, you drive surrounded by Ford's Lifeguard safety features. You may never need the extra protection of Ford's deep-center steering wheel, double-grip door locks and other Lifeguard features... but it's nice to have them just in case!

This new Customline Victoria already is setting a fast sales pace. Better arrange your "driving date" soon. Slide behind the wheel and head for the wide open spaces. Then you'll understand why Ford is the V-8 with the world's biggest following.

You'll ride like royalty in the luxurious interior of the Ford Customline Victoria. Virtually a "living room" on wheels, it features deep-cushioned seats upholstered in exquisite new fabrics. Each fabric is color harmonized with the interior trim and exterior finish.

In Performance Ford won the Pure Oil Manufacturer's Award for top all-around performance at NASCAR's Daytona championships!	In Safety Ford won Motor Trend Award for year's greatest automotive advancement—Lifeguard Design!	In Economy Ford won Mobilgas Economy Run Award for greatest gas economy per pound in Ford's field!

Stockcar Drivers Killed in Wreck

LEHI, Mo. — Two stock car drivers were killed in weekend crashes at the Memphis-Arkansas speedway.

Thomas (Cotton) Priddy, 27, Louisville, Ky., died after his 1956 Chevrolet cracked up during a 250-mile race on the dirt track yesterday.

And Clint McHugh, 28, Biloxi, Miss., was killed during time trials Saturday when his 1956 Oldsmobile went out of control on a turn and crashed through a guard rail into a lake.

Priddy's car sideswiped another racer on the 39th lap and flipped several times. Both Priddy and McHugh, who were close friends, were thrown clear of their cars and suffered multiple injuries.

Winner of the race, the NASCAR's Grand National Championship, was Ralph Moody, Danila, Fla., driving a 1956 Ford.

Second place went to Jim Paschal, 29, High Point, N. C., and third to Pat Kirkwood, Fort Worth, Texas.

Los Alamos county, New Mexico, was formed from parts of Sandoval and Santa Fe counties in 1949.

BEAUTY AND THE ROBOT... Anne Francis, as the inhabitant of a remote planet in 2200 A. D., has the advantage of being waited on by a remarkable all-seeing, all-knowing robot in "Forbidden Planet." Walter Pidgeon and Leslie Nielsen co-star in the M-G-M science-fiction thriller, filmed in CinemaScope and color, Saenger Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

CHAPTER XX

Swenson glanced swiftly around him. "He's in the Corbin House. In Lily Arnette's room. She wouldn't turn down anybody who was suffering. We better get going. Doc's waiting."

Leo Corbin owned the hotel, proclaimed the lettering on his door. He was clerking behind the desk when Frank stopped across the lobby beside Swenson. He was short, thick-shouldered and dark, with unruly black hair and shaded jowls. A Navy revolver was thrust in his belt beneath his waistcoat. He inclined his head grimly.

"Doc's in No. 9. I'll see that nobody disturbs him till he sends word he's finished in that room."

Frank went in without pausing. Dr. La Tour was watching him over the top rims of his glasses. A single lamp threw its brassy glow against a surgeon's saw and a knife on the table. In the small corner fireplace a fire burned and here a pair of sadirons stood close to the coals. They sent their damp chill over Frank's back knowing they were to be used for cauterizing after the amputation.

"Ude!" the man cried weakly from the bed. When Frank swung his eyes he saw Jonathan Yates leaning weakly against the headboard. He was holding a brass chased pistol with his good hand, his face green with pain. The rank smell of bad flesh touched Frank's nostrils.

"You've got to get that gun off him, if you can," La Tour said quietly. "I have the window shutters boled outside and we ain't got time till he passes out. He's been giving me trouble."

"You ain't taking his arm off!" Yates promised sharply. "Now that Ude's come he'll make sure you don't."

Beside Frank the Swede let out a husky murmur. Frank looked at La Tour. "Is it necessary, Doc?"

La Tour shrugged helplessly. "He's got the poison shooting through him already. The longer we put it off makes it all the more dangerous."

From the other side of the room the Swede let out a growl. "So you rode with this bunch, Ude? That explains why Hackett jumped you in Alhambra."

"Cut the cousin-kissin'," Doc said with a scowl. He was readying a cone framework that was covered with white gauze. "No matter what he was, Swede, I recollect it was you brought him here."

"And Emmett took him to your office a couple hours ago," Swenson added sagely.

paddip hand in in unff euf, as he concentrated to this talk between them. The sweat gathered. Frank moved. He dropped his hand over the gun barrel and gave a quick twist releasing the butt from the suffering man's grip. Yates' look shot up at him with deep malice in his eyes. "I'll make you regret that. I hate a double-crosser, Ude! If I come through this, you'll never have a moment's peace."

"All right, Frank. At least you know where you stand," La Tour said solemnly. "In this own you're poison. You're strychnine."

At a nod from him Swenson lunged after Yates' upper torso. "Hold his legs," La Tour shot at Frank and moved quickly toward the bed. "I don't want Yates to hurt himself fighting this."

For a few moments the man on the bed displayed remarkable strength in butting them away. The blacksmith's great shoulder, muscles grew rigid as he forced Yates flat on his back. Then Yates cursed thickly beneath La Tour's white cone. Chloroform, odor struck the room. Doc let it drip slowly onto the cone from his can, closely watching as Yates' rage subsided.

When Doc had finished his look swept to the blacksmith.

"Still alive," Swede told him. "The wild ones're hard to kill."

"Wild or not they're always clay, and they bleed," Doc said. He was solemnly taking Yates' pulse and seemed satisfied. He looked over to Frank, his brow creased. "You were brought here because we figure you one of Emmett Cash's men. Swede represents another faction of this range—the Rafter C. Norring was responsible in the first place and, of course, must never know that Jonathan Yates is here."

"I'm no longer Emmett's man," Frank said evenly.

La Tour nodded. "It can't be said this was done without Emmett's men being fairly treated. I told Emmett this afternoon it would be necessary. He didn't show up, apparently Chantry's posse is holding him from town. There has got to be someone watching this room at all times, Swede. Lily must use that little room for sleeping."

"Her sitting room."

When he was through with his bandages he tested Yates' pulse once more. Swenson's words came after him.

Don't get drunk. If you wake up up hollering I'm going to need you in a hurry."

"I'll be around," La Tour said with a dark frown. Pausing in front of Frank he brought his sharp look around. "You can leave anytime you want. Forget what you saw, except when Emmett asks."

"Emmett and I are washed up,"

Pack of Lions Turn Out to Be an Act

CHICAGO (M) — "There's a pack of lions running loose out here, and they looked pretty hungry," an alarmed caller reported to Englewood police last night.

Eighteen similar phone calls flooded the Englewood headquarters in the next five minutes.

Policemen Robert Martinjak and Richard Ryan were ordered to lead a safari. The cries of a crowd and the roar of beasts led them to 6419 Peoria St.

Cautiously, they crept toward a broken basement window where the roars emanated. They saw two husky lions chained to the basement wall. Two Hawaiians who live in the building came forward through the crowd and said they were the lions' owners.

Kalanilehu, 31, and his cousin Liko, 29, said their lions, Togar, a 2-year-old, 285-pounder, and Kila, a yearling 80-pounder, were imported from Africa for use in a night club act.

"They are as tame and gentic as alley cats, and they wouldn't hurt a mouse," said Kalanilehu. "But kids in this neighborhood! They're always teasing the lions. The kids broke the basement window a couple of days ago and they're forever pestering Togar and Kila."

"Why one of 'em was trying to make Togar put his head in a kid's mouth."

Mrs. Adelyn Smith, 47, signed a complaint charging that she always was tempting her daughter Lola, 7, to lick his face, or vice versa.

The police left the lions chained, but arrested Kalanilehu on a charge of harboring wild animals.

Voters Going to Think About Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Eisenhower's second physical crisis in nine months will force voters to think again of what they asked themselves in the first time: Should he be given another four-year term?

The question does not arise out of lack of confidence in Eisenhower's honest opinion of what he thinks is best for himself and the country. He has said he will frankly say if he's not up to another four years.

But he is a man of 65, carrying the enormous burden of the presidency. He would turn 70 before the end of a second term. He has had two major illnesses within these nine months: a heart attack and an intestinal block.

Because of the great public liking for him and trust in his judgment, questions about his physical fitness quieted down once he said the heart attack that he felt he could stand another four White House years.

But now, in view of this second illness, voters cannot help asking themselves this question, even though he may again say he feels able to run for re-election:

Are these two illnesses so close together simply accidents that could happen to any man Or are they signs of a physical weakening under the stress and strain of the presidency that may be repeated?

Eisenhower himself has said, "The presidency is probably the most taxing job, as far as tiring of the mind and spirit. . . . My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

His doctors have said he will not be able to resume his full duties for at least a month. This means—counting 8½ months after his heart attack at for 4½ months in a year he could not function fully.

The doctors have said here is no connection between the two illnesses, and they have been almost enthusiastically optimistic about his ability to run again. And Eisenhower has shown remarkable recuperative powers.

In fairness to himself and to the country he probably will wait until he is back on his job full-time before saying for the second time whether he will try for re-election.

That will be mid-July. Until then he will leave Democrats and Republicans with their tongues hanging out—but wagging—in opposite expectation, the Republicans knowing their best hope is Eisenhower, the Democrats knowing their best hope is anybody else.

Boros May Figure in National Open

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (M) — You don't hear much of Julius Boros in speculation about the National Open golf championship, but some time before the 56th open starts Thursday it might be well to remember a few facts about the Big Moose from Bridgeport.

Boros won the championship in 1952, when he still was a relatively unknown pro. He usually does well in big tournaments on big courses. And he's about the best trap shot in the business.

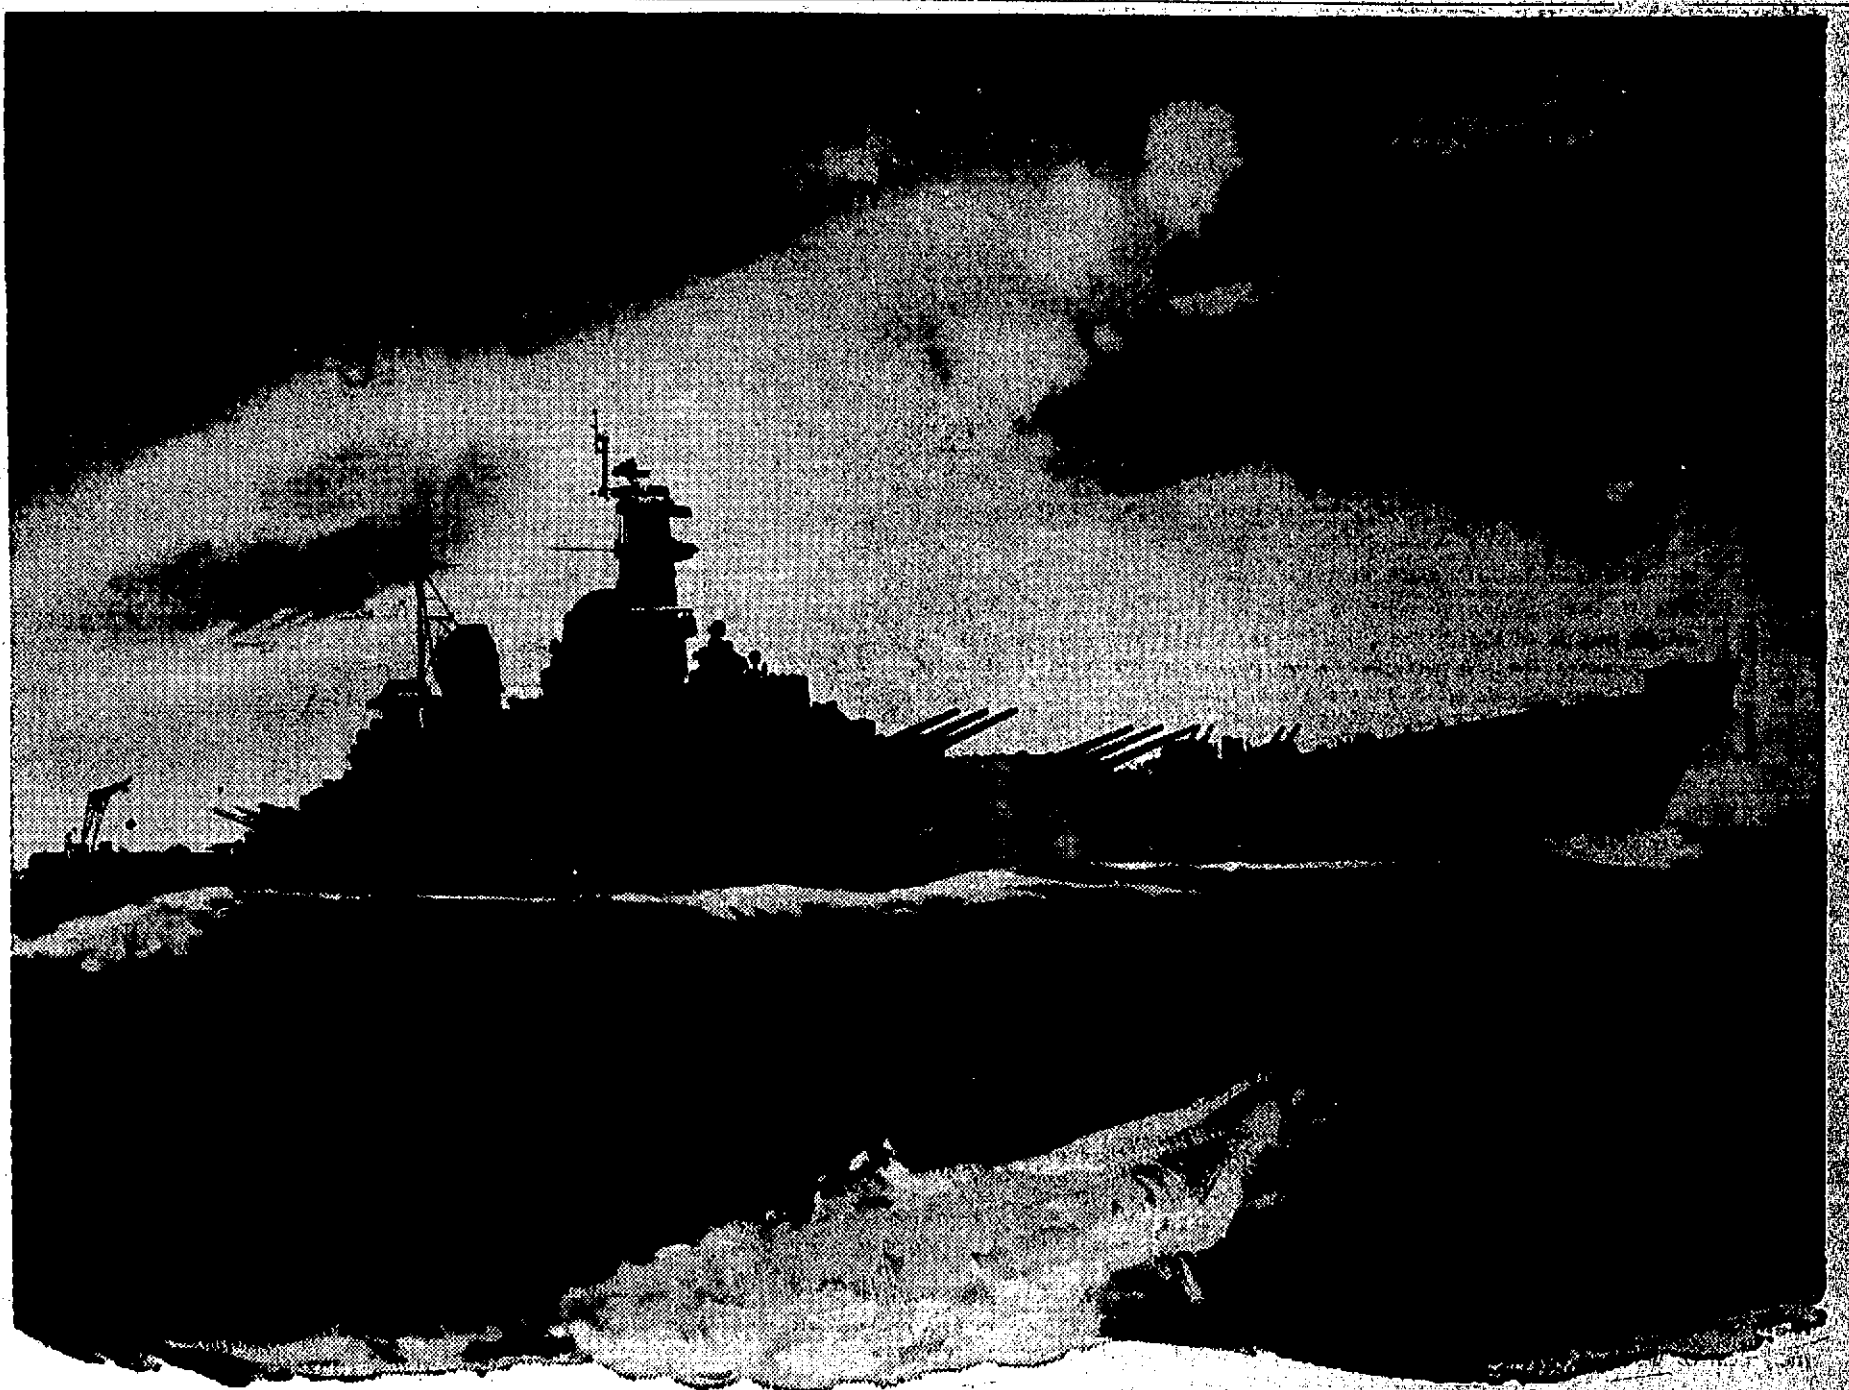

All these things could be important on this week's Open. The service of traps, New traps were added and others redesigned to make the big level greens and some fairway traps created to pinch in the target areas for long drives.

Costa Rica was the first Central American country to cultivate coffee.

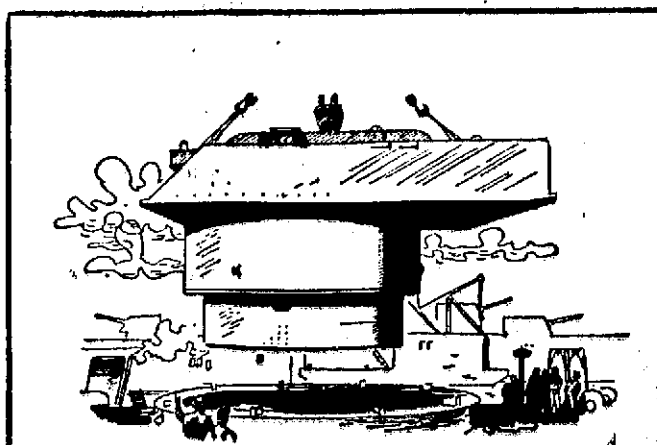

Sweden has close to 100,000 lakes left by retreating glaciers of the Ice Age.

Texas Eastern helps put backbone in a battleship

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Philadelphia Gas Works, a Texas Eastern customer, supplies the gas used at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. A complete gun turret, stress-relieved in a gas-fired furnace, is pictured here being lowered into place on a U.S. cruiser.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest to help in the job of building fighting ships that can withstand the stresses and shock of battle action. At the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard huge gas-fired furnaces are used to stress-relieve castings, forgings and complete gun turret, bow and stern assemblies. The stress-relieving of these giant units gives added backbone and muscle to the structure and operating parts. Gas is used because the atmosphere and temperature can be exactly controlled . . . and because gas does the job economically. Today thousands of homes and industries depend upon this modern fuel, because Texas Eastern makes it available abundantly.

Calendar Of Events

Community Club To Observe Anniversary

The Christian Union Community Club will observe its third Anniversary with a special program Monday, June 18, at 7:30 p. m. Guest speaker will be Rev. Fredie Morrison. The public is cordially invited to attend. This program will be presented at the regular meeting place of the club.

Hopewell PTA To Meet

The Hopewell P. T. A. will hold its regular meeting at the school Wednesday, June 13, at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

St. Mark Baptist Church

Sunday services at St. Mark Baptist Church were very gratifying. The Sunday School was very interesting, and every one seemed to have enjoyed it. Mrs. Tennessee Johnson presented a very splendid Children's Day program consisting of recitations by Eloise Dennis, E. Story and Dorothy F. Dennis; trio by Eloise, Dorothy and Dianne Dennis. Reading by Elbert Dennis. The program was very spicy and was enjoyed by all who attended.

We have recently purchased a piano, and Mrs. Charline Brewer, a member of another church has been kind enough to play for us. Visitors were: Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Roberts, Mr. Mac Ragland and son, Rev. E. N. Glover, Pastor.

Visitors In The City

Mr. and Mrs. George Williams had as guests last week, Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flency Briant of Dallas, Texas. The Briants returned to their home Monday, June 11.

Let We Forget

Nelson-Hill Auxiliary No. 427 will meet tonight at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Servicemen Visits Family

SP-3 Sylvester Hicks who is stationed at Ft. Hood, Texas, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hicks, Sr., and his wife, Mrs. Mary C. Hicks and children, Sylvia Ann and Yvette Hicks.

U. S. Commies Still Tied to Moscow Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaders of the American Communist party at a secret meeting in March, decided to differ with the Russian leadership from time to time—but never on basic issues.

The information comes from a source which cannot be named but is completely reliable. The decision does not mean any break between Moscow and the U. S. party leaders who for years have slavishly followed every twist in the Moscow line.

Far from it. It is simply a switch in tactics intended to make the American party look less like a Russian stooge and to try to gain some influence and tolerance in the United States.

But last week's startling editorial in the party newspaper, the Daily Worker, sharply criticizing the new Russian leaders cannot be assumed to reflect the party's new tactics.

It is an educated guess — and that phrase is used carefully — that John Gates, Daily Worker editor, has already been secretly condemned by the party leaders for going much further than they liked or intended.

The March meeting followed the February attack made in Moscow on the dead Stalin by Communist party boss Khrushchev. He talked to the party's 20th Congress and said his remarks should not be leaked to the public.

But they were leaked. Last week the State Department made public a 25,000-word version of Khrushchev's speech.

Khrushchev suggested Communists around the world switch tactics and try to create popular fronts with Socialists and others in order to take over peacefully when and where they can.

He specifically said, however, that revolution still would be necessary in those countries which resisted overthrow without violence.

It is also an educated guess that the U. S. Communist party received before its March meeting and after Khrushchev's talk— instructions from the Kremlin on what line to follow in order to gain more power here.

The same reliable source which provided the information about the secret March meeting said Eugene Dennis, the party's secretary and real leader, laid down the new line at the meeting.

He quoted Dennis that it would have been smarter if through the years the American Communists had not always gone along — in Philadelphia at Milwaukee (N) New York at Chicago Brooklyn at St. Louis (N)

Cardinals Error Twice to Give Game to Bums

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

Tom Brewer, the kid right-hander, was almost forgotten in pre-season talk of Boston's pennant potential, but now he's the ace of the Red Sox staff and the only American League pitcher with nine victories.

Last spring, the 24-year-old North Carolinian was mentioned only as the fourth man in Boston's pitching picture. Frank Sullivan, Bob Porterfield and Willard Nixon were the big guns—but now they can only count nine successes among them with 10 defeats. Brewer's only loss was to New York.

An 11-10 record last season and a 10-9 mark in 1954 put Brewer in the shadow. Now he's sailing free and easy with a 2.28 earned run average eight straight victories and six complete games in his 11 start what's more, he has Cleveland Indian stuffed in his hips pocket.

He set down the second-place Tribe on three hits last night 5-1 for his seventh straight verdict over the Indians, the third this season. He didn't give a hit after a fourth-inning double by Vic Wertz as the Sox salvaged a split in their day-night doubleheader. Porterfield gave the Tribe only four hits in the day game, but three of them were home runs and Cleveland took it 4-1.

Baltimore replaced Detroit in fifth, by one point, edging the Tigers 5-4. Washington split a two-night twin bill with Kansas City, winning 4-3, then losing 6-3. New York and Chicago were idle.

St. Louis blew a chance for the National League lead, losing to Brooklyn 3-8 as the Dodgers moved into fourth place while Milwaukee slumped to fifth in a 6-2 defeat by Philadelphia. St. Louis fell from second to third behind Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, idle with New York and Chicago.

While the Dodgers, who benched slump-ridden Roy Campanella, were making it seven victories in nine games, the raves were dropping their ninth decision in last 12-all at home. Stu Miller, the ex-Card, put his lifetime mark at 8-2 against Milwaukee while Gene Conley lost his third. The Phils packed it away with three in the fifth on four singles and Gran Hamner's double.

public—100 per cent with everything Moscow said or did.

As an example, Dennis is said to have cited the party's complete endorsement of the 1939 Hitler-Stalin pact which not only shocked Americans in general but so disillusioned many Communists that they got out of the party in droves.

Dennis reportedly said it would have been shrewder if the party had straddled the fence on the Hitler-Stalin agreement. Dennis, 51, was one of the 11 top Communists found guilty in 1949 of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government. He was given five years in jail.

Editor Gates' editorial in the Daily Worker last week criticized Khrushchev, in denunciation of Stalin, for not mentioning Stalin's attacks on the Jews. It raised questions about the role played by

Mama ran the house, there was never any doubt about who was the final boss—it was Dad.

I can still remember how on a summer night we children used to urge hoplads to hop-race across the street under the lamplight, worrying that if we touched them our fingers would break out in warts.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Dad would take his feet off the front porch bannister and stand up — the tallest tower of my lifetime — and beat his palms together like thunderclaps.

"Whap Whap Whap!" there was no missing his bedtime summons. It could be heard for two blocks. Dogs and children might growl or grumble, but they all headed for home and slumber.

There was no whimpering or grumbling about it. It wouldn't do any good. Before kneeling in his old-fashioned long underwear and saying his nightly prayer, Dad checked to see that every kind was under his covers and the lights were out. He thought all children should sleep in their own homes, and we were never allowed to stay overnight with neighbors. Most of us never slept away from home until we left home forever.

My wife and I have only one child, Tracy Ann, who will be three this month. For some reason, while Tracy is very fond of me, I have no more authority over her than a piece of wet string.

I can't convince her she is too young to be a night owl.

One night recently, trying to reconcile her to the idea that bed was sweet and life would last until tomorrow, I told Tracy Ann about my father. I told her how in the long ago, on summer nights, he would stand there straight and tall on the old wooden porch and beat his echoing palms together and summon his scattered tribe to the shelter of his roof.

"Like this?" asked Tracy. "The beat her two small hands together — 'Pat. Pat. Pat!'—then said imperiously: 'Come to bed, Daddy. Right now.'"

Well, sir, believe it or not, I went to bed.

What this country needs is more old-fashioned daughters who, when they say something to their parents, really mean it.

Or am I getting mixed up?

FLORIAN OF ROYALTY—Queen Mother Elizabeth happily samples the perfume of a rose presented to her at the opening of the annual Royal Chelsea flower show, held in the grounds of the Royal Hospital at Chelsea, England.

Khrushchev and the other new Russian leaders in Stalin's lifetime.

Gates, 49, was one of the 11 Communists convicted with Dennis. He, too, drew five years. It is possible the party may try to find some way of repudiating Gates' editorial, even to saying it does not represent the party's views.

In short, the American Communist leaders want to give the appearance, but not too strongly, of being their own men. They know that being considered Russian stooges stands in the way of any progress they hope to make.

"Yes, he's taking me out to eat, but you know how Billy is with his money—it might scare him away if I ordered a big expensive dinner!"

LONDON — (UP) — The Time of London carried the following letter to the editor yesterday: "Sir: A bad man never rides a white horse. Yours faithfully, D. W. Smithers, Ringfield, Knoxville, Tenn."

IT WAS JUST THAT MONTREAL. — (UP) When police arrived to inspect a burgled parking meter yesterday, they found the indicator read "violation."

Betty Hutton's Comeback Is Not So Bad

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Betty Hutton is making her first picture in four years, and others should do as well on their film returns.

During her heyday at Paramount, the blonde bombshell did two or three pictures a year on a flat salary of $5,000 a week. Now she's costarring with Dana Andrews in "Spring Reunion" at $100,000 plus 20 per cent of the gross. The salary alone comes to around $20,000 a week.

"Not bad for a comeback!" she laughed between takes.

It's a different Betty you see these days. No more the frantic conferences, the tension on the set. She's smooth, easy-going and sure of herself.

"For one thing, I know what I'm doing," she explained. "We had two weeks of rehearsals with Dana, the director, Bob Pirosh, and with the camera crew. We went over the scenes thoroughly so we came to work knowing what we're going to shoot."

"That never happened at Paramount. I'd come to the studio and walk right into some guy's arms. After four or five love scenes, say to him, 'By the way, my name's Betty Hutton.'"

There's another reason for the change in Betty's attitude. She has a different approach to her work.

"This time I'm going for the money," she said frankly. "Nuts to art; I've had my share of that."

She said that her husband Alan Livingston, former Capital Records biggie and now a top man with NBC, convinced her to change. This came after her much-publicized retirement.

"You can't quit this way," he told her. "You think you've been licked. You'll never be happy until you realize you aren't licked. Try it again, but this time go for commercial success. Then you can quit after two or three years and be contented."

That's her present plan. She wants to work hard for a few years then quit for good. She intends to keep active in films, TV, night clubs and records.
